For procurement title: Monitoring and Verification Services

Date: 12 March 2020

#	Question	Answer
1	The financial proposal should include all/total costs per assignment/call down, specifying number of days/per call down for each component?	The financial proposal should be presented in terms of the unit inputs as stated in the procurement notice. If the bidder considers that there is any additional relevant narrative surrounding this in terms of savings, this can be written as part of the financial proposal.
2	Could one assignment/call down include both locations (Banaadir, Galgaduud regions), meaning that activities will be taking place simultaneously ?	A single call down will be specified for a location depending on need. It is possible that activities could be run in two separate locations simultaneously. The focus for the call-down will be Galgaduud, Caabudwaaq.
3	Can we include contingency costs or required to stick the outlined? We previously were able to include contingency costs for security in proposals submitted to Mott, although not used.	No contingency costs should not be in the proposal, bidders should stick to the outline provided.
4	One of the answers on the clarifications page specifies the total budget to be £15,000 – £40,000: Is this total for each assignment/call down? Or it is the total available budget for the whole service, for the whole year?	We have not defined the cost of services, this was an estimate indicative total cost of services for the initial contract, but was in no way intended to indicate a ceiling. We expect at least two assignments to take place in Galgaduud, Caabudwaaq in 2020.
